About CinEast

The CinEast festival aims to promote the cinema of Central and Eastern European countries of the former communist bloc. The Festival, held annually in Luxembourg, has existed since 2008 and the upcoming 10th edition will take place between 5 and 22 October 2017. The Festival offers a wide selection of feature, documentary and short films (fiction, animated and documentary) as well as a rich programme of accompanying events, including concerts, exhibitions, debates, culinary evenings etc. Selected feature films are included in the Official competition to compete for the Grand Prix and the Special Jury Prize awarded by an international jury, as well as the Critics' Prize awarded by a separate press jury. Short films compete for Audience Awards in the three categories. In 2016, the CinEast festival presented over 60 feature and 40 short films, welcoming 25 special guests and attracted over 10400 spectators. The Grand Prix awarded by the international jury presided over by Mirjana Karanović went to the film Mellow Mud by Renars Vimba.

See the festival website www.cineast.lu for more details.
